

First breakout session:

What have you learned deeply during the last six months as the COVID-19 pandemic has disrupted our lives?

What have you grieved and missed?

Where have you seen God?

Second breakout session:

Being in community has always been a vital part of following Jesus. As we have been physically apart from your faith community, how has your relationship with God changed? Has it deepened or become less?

What studies, classes, or worship opportunities would you like to see offered?

What do you hope for the diocese as we continue to move forward in this time of the pandemic and beyond?

Third breakout session:

What do you believe the role of the Episcopal Church and Episcopalians is helping to heal the wounds and divisions in American society?

What are some of the ways that racism as a system that legally and socially privileges one group of people over another manifests itself in our daily lives?

How can we become a people who are able to face into the racism of American society and not fall into the trap of blaming and scapegoating others?

What voices do we need to hear more in our diocese?
